

In 1969, the first vines were planted and a winery established in this area, which was traditionally sheep grazing pastures. As such, the locals considered it would only ever be one of a kind and thus the road leading to it was named “Winery Road”. Despite their doubts, the area has flourished and is now recognized as an official Wine Region.

VINTAGE 2020

A return to average winter rains in 2019, together with cool spring conditions, led to strong early spring growth and bunch numbers across all varieties.

The early summer remained cool, with above average shower activity which had some impact on fruit set and resulting yield, ranging from minimal impact on white varieties.

The cooler moist weather continued until December 20th—28th when strong, intermittent, hot northerly winds persisted through out the region. This was immediately followed by significant rain and a return to a cooler vintage, enabling the harvest of whites in mid February and reds completed by 20th April.

Although the weather in the lead up to harvest was somewhat more unstable than average, some exceptional fruit characteristics were found in white varieties given time to balance, in particular, sauvignon blanc, pinot gris and chardonnay.

2020 district yields remained variable between varieties and blocks, but in general were less than in previous averages.

A refreshing zesty wine with hints of peach & melon, complexed with the cracked yeast character of extended time on yeast lees.
